

Title: The Demand for Nations

Text: Acts 1:8, Matthew 28:16-20, Mark 6:7

Introduction:

The call of God upon His people has always been to the nations. From the beginning, God's purpose has been to establish His kingdom on earth through His chosen vessels. In Acts 1:8, Jesus commands His disciples to be His witnesses to the ends of the earth, and in Matthew 28:16-20, He commissions them to make disciples of all nations. Similarly, in Mark 6:7, Jesus sends His disciples out two by two, empowering them for the kingdom's work. This is a historical mandate and a present-day call to every believer. The world is crying out for sons and daughters of God to rise not in mere religious activity, but in transformational kingdom impact. The demand for nations is urgent, and the time to answer is now!

1. The Call to Take Nations (Acts 1:8, Matthew 28:16-20)

The demand for nations is not just about filling church pews; it's about shifting cultures, shaping destinies, and establishing kingdom principles in every sector of society. Jesus did not command His disciples to remain stagnant but to go to the highways, the villages, the cities, and the nations.

- Witnessing with Power: Acts 1:8 declares that the Holy Spirit empowers believers for global impact. The anointing is not just for personal edification but for national transformation.
- Making Disciples, Not Just Converts: Matthew 28:19-20 calls for raising disciples who influence nations, not just gathering crowds. The kingdom is about deep-rooted change, not surface-level religion.
- Taking Dominion: Sons and daughters of God must rise in governance, media, business, and education, infusing these spheres with kingdom values.
- Breaking Barriers: The gospel is for all people. It crosses racial, political, and economic boundaries to bring true freedom.

2. Kingdom Service: The Sons Must Arise (Romans 8:19)

Romans 8:19 declares, "For the earnest expectation of the creation eagerly waits for the revealing of the sons of God." The world is not waiting for more noise it is waiting for true kingdom ambassadors who will serve with excellence, integrity, and divine wisdom.

- Leadership Through Service: Look at Joseph, Daniel, and Nehemiah. They didn't just pray; they built, governed, and transformed nations.
- Influencing Society: Sons of God should not remain hidden within church walls. They must rise in politics, media, and business to shape the future.

- Sacrificial Commitment: Transformation demands a price. Every major revival and shift in history has come through men and women who laid down their comfort for the kingdom.
- Excellence in Every Sphere: If the Church does not rise in excellence, mediocrity will rule. The sons must not only arise they must lead with distinction.

3. Evangelism: The Heartbeat of God (Mark 16:15, Luke 10:1-3)

Evangelism is more than handing out tracts; it is about shifting atmospheres and reclaiming territories for God's kingdom.

- A Divine Command, Not a Suggestion: The Great Commission is not an option it is the very heartbeat of heaven.
- Strategic Evangelism: Jesus sent His disciples in pairs for strength and accountability. We must be wise in our approach, leveraging relationships, technology, and networks.
- Digital Evangelism: In this generation, the pulpit is not just a wooden platform it is the internet, social media, and digital content that reaches millions.
- Revival Through Crusades: History proves that mass evangelism brings national transformation. Men like Reinhard Bonnke shook entire continents through the power of the gospel.

4. Holiness: The Standard for Kingdom Ambassadors (Hebrews 12:14, 1 Peter 1:15-16)

No one can take nations for God without a life set apart. Holiness is not legalism it is power, purity, and divine authority.

- Personal Purity: Your life is the loudest sermon you will ever preach.
- Corporate Holiness: A Church that compromises loses its power. A holy Church is a powerful Church.
- Holiness in Leadership: Nations crumble under corrupt leadership, but righteous leaders bring stability and justice.
- Walking in the Fear of God: A nation that fears God is a nation that thrives. The fear of the Lord births wisdom, and wisdom builds strong societies.

5. Demonstration of Power in the Holy Ghost (1 Corinthians 2:4-5, Mark 16:17-18)

Talk is cheap. The kingdom of God is not in mere words but in demonstration of power (1 Corinthians 2:4-5). The nations will not be won by arguments but by the undeniable evidence of God's power at work.

- Healing and Deliverance: The gospel is not complete without miracles. Mark 16:17-18 declares that signs and wonders will follow those who believe.

- The Fire of the Holy Ghost: The apostles in Acts did not just preach; they carried a fire that transformed regions.
- Prophetic Influence: God raises prophetic voices to declare the destiny of nations and shift spiritual atmospheres.
- Revival Fire: No nation can resist the move of God when revival fire is kindled. The Spirit of God breaks chains and ushers in transformation.

6. Taking the Seven Mountains of Influence

To truly disciple nations, believers must take ground in key areas:

- Religion: Expanding the gospel through missions, church planting, and apostolic movements.
- Family: Restoring godly values in marriages and parenting.
- Education: Reforming systems to reflect biblical truth.
- Government: Raising righteous leaders who enact just laws and policies.
- Media: Controlling narratives through faith-based storytelling and journalism.
- Business: Establishing wealth and resources for kingdom expansion.
- Entertainment: Using music, arts, and sports as tools of evangelism.

Conclusion:

The demand for nations is not for the weak-hearted. This is a call for warriors, for reformers, for pioneers. God is searching for men and women who will rise beyond religion into kingdom dominion. The nations are waiting will you go? The lost are crying will you answer? The time is now!

Altar Call:

This is a moment of decision. Will you surrender completely to the call of God? Will you let the fire of the Holy Ghost consume you for the nations? If you are ready, stand, pray, and receive a fresh outpouring of the Spirit. The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few. Will you be the one who answers the call?
